Churchill-Roosevelt Press Conference Reveals:

Quebec Decisions Taken to Provide "Forward Action" by Allied Forces

QUEBEC, Aug. 24.—(CP)—The Quebec conference has ended with the two leaders agreeing that decisions have been taken to provide for the forward action of the fleets, armies and air forces of Britain and the United States. It was announced today by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

On the eighth day of the portentous conference, the two Allied leaders were able to agree on the drafting of a unanimous strategic plan for relentless unremitting war against the Axis in Europe.

Details of the victory blueprint necessarily remain secret until revealed to the public. But it is known that "the military decisions of the chiefs of staff turned very largely upon the decision to bring the bringing of effective aid to China, the two main strategists announced.

Facts Revealed

At a press conference these facts were revealed:

1—Another strategic conference will be held before the end of the year. It will be a shorter meeting that can be arranged with Premier Stalin of Russia.

2—Decisions have been reached by the Quebec conference for national liberation and joint action may be expected late this week by several nations.

3—Agreement has been reached on other political issues arising from the conference. They were not enumerated but it was taken for granted they concerned the creation of satellite states in the Balkans.

4—The military decisions may be expected to be unfolded quickly.

5—The absence of Russia was most abundantly clear by the admission that Japan occupied much of the continent. Russia's entry into the war is not a hell-bent against Japan and could not be expected to sit in deliberations of that sort.

6—The time has now arrived when the factories, shipsyards and men of Canada, Britain and the United States, along with removal of the submarine menace, had made possible extensive action against the Axis throughout the world.

7—The Unocal war in the Arctic has been claimed from

Reds Pursue Fleeing Germans Beyond Ruins Kharkov Base

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Red Army drove west and south through the smoking ruins of Kharkov today pursuing the Germans who were thrown into full retreat back from the recaptured former capital of the Ukraine.

Frontline dispatches said the Germans applied torches to Kharkov before being ejected from the city, which was set afire and reduced to rubble by wholesale demolitions, leaving behind them a city of holes.

Russians were keeping up the heavy pressure from their new Kharkov base, giving the Germans no time to regroup and as they spread out in a drive for re-conquest of the Ukraine.

Poltava, the historic battlefield where Charles XII of Sweden met defeat, appeared to be the next Red Army objective.

The two women identified as the female heads of investigation at Scarborough, a railroad station 36 miles north of German-held Taganrog, the Red Army press service said, were captured in the southern side of the German flank.

Red soldiers also were attacking the northern flanks in the Izmak sector.

The two women stood mute upon arrangement before a court commission which was given $50,000 bond each. Dr. Thomas pleaded not guilty and also was charged with being a spy. The two women were set for Theresa Belens on Sept. 4.

Theresa Belens, 16, of Scarborough, Ontario, was serving in the Canadian Army overseas.

City Flier Won't Forget Berlin Birthday 'Do'

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(CP)—Sgt. Dave Canterbury, a mid-upper gunner of Edmonton, Alta., won't forget this Aug. 24 bomber raid and a birthday party high in flak-filled skies over Berlin.

It was a little birthday "do" for Dave's pilot, Sgt. Stan Mason of Durham, England, who trained at RAF Cranwell, Sleaford, and Cranbury, Mass.

At midnight, a few minutes before unloading their bombs on Berlin, Canterbury said, "We were announced over the planes' intercom" that the bombs were away, the gunners were singing happy birthday to you."

"It was quite a celebration," said Canterbury when he reached his base after the raid. "For the first time we got out our hot lunch, but right afterwards we toasted Mason's health with orange juice from our rations."

Sgt. Canterbury is the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Canterbury, 1025 10th St., who attended McCauley Intermediate and Technical High school, prior to enlisting in the RCAF in 1941. He turned 20 yesterday. He trained at No. 4 U.T.S. and received his wings as a sergeant pilot at No. 1 Flying Training School at Macmillan-Munro, just February.

Dispatch Claims Allies Reply To Declaring Rome Open City

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 24.—(AP)—A Rome dispatch to the Basler Nachrichten today quoted Vatican circles as saying that British and United States replies agreeing in principle to the declarations of Rome as an open city had been received by the papal secretary of state.

The Anglo-American replies, the dispatch said, came shortly after a Vatican statement of the move and the establishment of Swiss commissioners to inspect the execution of the de-militarization measures.

The dispatch said Italian government authorities reported they were not mentioned on the censored Italian press.

All Roman newspapers reported Italy's forces were again seen dropping leaflets inciting their own forces to offend against Japan.

The only alarm sounded was the constant warning of the populace of the Italian capital to go to shelters.

KING PRESIDES

Facing the three Allied leaders were 17 newspapermen, photographers and the radio commentators drawn from every section of the globe.

First Mr. Churchill spoke, then Mr. Roosevelt, finally the Canadian prime minister.

From first to last they stressed the unanimity of the military decisions reached at Quebec and the cordiality that existed on every level.

PRESIDENT GOES FARTHER

President Roosevelt went further. He said there had been a "marked change of heart" of mind he believed would continue, not end, as long as the war lasts, but for years into the peace.

Behind the three men were some of their advisers—Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary; Brendan Bracken, British minister of information; Harry Hopkins, Roosevelt's chief economic assignment board; Steve Early, White House press secretary; and Alexander Saperstein, chief of the United States army public relations branch.

In was a strange conference in some ways. The newspaper corps was taken into the Citadel by bus under escort, but the journalists must remain to the "blue jacket." Furthermore, the story could not be released for publication until the 25th.

CHURCHILL "UNTIDY"

The president wore a light green suit and the Canadian prime minister a black suit with a white piping stripe. Both men had their coats unbuttoned and looked positively untidy in comparison—he wore a cramped light panama and a white shirt that had not stayed longer and mingled more closely with the people.

LAUDS HOSPITALITY

He spoke of the wonderful hospitality received from Mr. King and the Canadian people. Mr. Churchill added:

"He emphasized that the conference has been staff meetings of the British and American high commands and for that reason the members in attendance in this statement to only the British and American forces."

But that did not mean for a moment that the two sides were getting along. The Canadians who were now fighting side by side with Americans and British were not always at ease, and had not a laugh in a carload, the president said.

He emphasized that the conference has been staff meetings of the British and American high commands and for that reason the members in attendance in this statement to only the British and American forces.

But that did not mean for a moment that the two sides were getting along. The Canadians who were now fighting side by side with Americans and British were not always at ease, and had not a laugh in a carload, the president said.

When he first arrived, he wore an old grey fedora. He kept hats, though, in his room at the internationals, and of distinction.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King asked Churchill to lead off and said the two leaders would follow and that everyone would be able to hear what the president said first.

However, he wished to impress on the world that the two sides had impossible to supply them with all the news they had wished for during the progress of the conference.

The very first of the discussions produced very little that they could repeat or write about. The secretaries of state, the ministers of war and the staffs brought to Quebec he hoped would be demonstrated in the weeks and months to come.

Mr. Churchill said he was confident the results would justify the concentrated study that had been given the future plans.

CANT' GIVE NEWS

So far, however, there about the criticism that more news had not come out, but it was a life and death struggle.

People asked why it was necessary for the president and himself to get together in conference after another. They were asked to go along with such infrequent meetings.

President Roosevelt began with revelation of what he smugly said was a secret—that that conference was being held in the Rockies. Mr. Churchill and Mr. King had an amicable frame of mind, however, and the two sides were to work out some phrase that would adequately and tersely describe the object of the meeting.

But the two failed to formulate such a phrase or slogan. The last was that essential and valuable as conferences were they did not work.

That was done by the fighting men, the sailors, the drivers, the unanimous and willing support of the people at home.

RAISES PRESS

To maintain and encourage that unanimity, the press of the people in all walks of life was a service open to the press and one it was well worth.

Since the last conference the Allied powers had achieved some remarkable successes. The President said he was not yet prepared to say how now with what it was when he and Mr. Churchill met in June.

What was to become of the conference became effective in November, 1942, when North Africa was invaded. The Casablanca conference, however, was not carried into effect in January and Sicily.

The President said that it would be another thing when something had been developed following the present conference. But they would be anxious to do so through the concentration of all the people of the Allied countries.

NO CONTROVERSY

Smiling broadly at the conference, Mr. Churchill said he knew the value of controversy and making the front pages, but it was a fact that there was no controversy between himself and Mr. Churchill at any of their series of six conferences.

The source of unanimity and harmony Mr. Roosevelt hoped would be sustained throughout the war, and that the problems of the two countries.

He emphasized the global nature of the war and said it was all one fight—north and south, east and west. The recent antiaircraft of the

"We have to compete with the war industry!"

Japanese from Kiska island in the Aleutians was an instance of the kind of news that was most welcome.

The present spoke of the satisfaction he felt in the site chosen for the Quebec conference.

A dozen times he and Mr. Churchill had agreed that Quebec was the best conference site they had chosen.

LAUDS HOSPITALITY

He spoke of the wonderful hospitality received from Mr. King and the Canadian people. Mr. Churchill added:

"The conference itself has been a great success. The joint statement prepared for the press was excellent. The two heads of state had agreed that Quebec was the best conference site they had chosen.

He emphasized that the conference has been staff meetings of the British and American high commands and for that reason the members in attendance in this statement to only the British and American forces.

But that did not mean for a moment that the two sides were getting along. The Canadians who were now fighting side by side with Americans and British were not always at ease, and had not a laugh in a carload, the president said.

Mr. Churchill, at the end of his speech, said that the British were making a superb contribution. This along with the other factors he had mentioned would make it possible for the British to win the war.

After the president had concluded his speech, the two heads of state had a conference in the press room.

When the heads of the two nations did not meet each other even for a few minutes, certain quietness fell over the room. The two heads of state of principle but in the emphasis to be placed on some matters and the manner in which the two heads of state had entreated.

NEED BEST PLANS

When the United Nations force go into action they must have the best plan that foreign and domestic experts can offer.

Both sides must be prepared to meet the challenge of enemy opposition.

The press had helped to place Quebec and Canada on the map in the world at this time of the greatest world events, Mr. King said.

Mr. Churchill, at the end of his speech, said that the British were making a superb contribution. This along with the other factors he had mentioned would make it possible for the British to win the war.

While he could not tell what the plans for the future are, he assured his hearers they could look forward to great steps being taken in beating down the air victory.

To the comments that Russia had gone into action they must have the best plan that foreign and domestic experts can offer.

Both sides must be prepared to meet the challenge of enemy opposition.

He's No Liberal

There is one sour, reactionary note in the war chorus of the Canadian people. That note is furnished by the Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of finance.

Canada's young men and women are fighting for world freedom—freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from fear and freedom from want. Mr. Ilsley seeks to perpetuate slavery, the slavery of men to dominating money and "sound money." For that is what "sound money" is—the regimentation of human beings under the bonds of debt.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, devoting himself to international affairs, has rendered Canada to the United Nations machinery service. But in doing so he has sadly neglected Canada's domestic affairs. That is why Mr. Ilsley, reactionary and Tory, has managed to fit his portfolio in spite of the protest of some of enlightened members of his party.

For Mr. Ilsley has not carried out Liberal policy. He has betrayed Liberal policy. He betrays Liberal policy in his refusal to use the facilities of our publicly owned Bank of Canada. And when he goes in the House of Commons that is to borrow from the Bank of Canada would cause ruinous inflation—he utters a deliberate falsehood.

He uttered a falsehood when he declared that the Bank of Canada is controlled by the chartered banks. This statement is utter nonsense because he has absolute control of every financial institution in Canada and could tomorrow under the War Measures Act take over these institutions completely. His falsehood was reflected in the press when he was interviewed by Mr. H. Ilesley in the just as well as any thinking person in the country.

Mr. Ilsley's utter unfitness to carry out Liberal policy is further demonstrated by his rejection of the reasonable proposal made by the government. In the Budget speech Mr. Alexander, for a fair Debt Adjustment Act, to provide belated relief for debt-ridden, bankrupt prairie farmers, made no fault of their own.

Again, the refusal of party leaders to farm among the prairie farmers is a disgrace to every war industry, is little short of sabotage in the opinion of thousands of patriotic farmers. All war industries, except agriculture, are allowed the full return of invested capital to avoid any loss. But the prairie farmer is left to face permanent bankruptcy.

Another ghastly national tragedy is Mr. Ilsley's mishandling of the Old Age Pension Act and one of the reasons for the hurricane blast of public opinion against the Liberal party in all the recent elections.

These failures are due to the reactionary Toryism of one man and his advisors. For the financial advisers to Mr. Ilsley and to his predecessors have been continuing and maintaining wrong in their advice. And why should we tolerate such men?

Prime Minister King should take immediate steps to instruct his ministers to carry out the public policies agreed to the Canadian people, to stop the growing money credit through The Bank of Canada, in terms of public need, by giving justice to our farmers and lowering the high and ruinous interest rates charged by the private money lenders. Our public private debt by giving our patriotic taxpayers at the age of 60 and disabled citizens of any age a dollar a day, and by wiping out the iniquitous regulations surrounding us.

There is no need to wait to bring down a complete social security program as everyone and to work is employed now. But justice to our aged, our blind and our disabled cannot wait. Complete power to give effect to these urgent needs of Canadians is provided under the War Measures Act.

Mr. Ilsley stands against all these things. He needs to be reminded, in a frank and urgent and authoritative way, that the first requirement of a Liberal minister in a Liberal cabinet is to be Liberal.

Why Did Japan Leave?

Why did the Japanese withdraw from Kiasia without letting off the stiff Japanese resistance we have come to expect from them?

One guess is that they feel the necessity for conquering their defensive lines. But that is not consistent with what we know of the strategy not only in war with their previous practice, which has been to hold every inch of conquered territory at all costs.

Another guess is that they have sacrificed Kiasia to the northern force for a more important purpose.

They might be contemplating a drive on India to offset the projected Allied advance into Burma.

They might be contemplating an attack on Siberia. They might be contemplating a heavier assault on China.

Or they might be they did not sur-

Pacific with keener interest than ever before. Something is in the wind.

Japan's Manpower

Before Japan got into the war, there was a current opinion that the island empire would find itself embarrassed for manpower if it clashed with the United States. There was a feeling that a nation of only 72,000,000 people, existing on a low standard of living and with a high birth rate, would fare badly with a nation of 130,000,000 healthy and well-fed people.

The seeming inexhaustability of Japan's manpower, therefore, has constituted an unpleasant surprise.

Our surprise is due to our refusal to face the facts. Japan has huge armies in China, in the Philippines, in Malaya, in Burma, on the islands of the Pacific and in Manchuria facing Russia.

This tremendous armed output is based on the following return by latest census:

	Population
Japan proper	72,232,700
Korea	22,899,000
Fernosa	5,212,458
Manchuria	36,949,972

137,294,148

The Manchurian population may not furnish soldiers probably does not, but can furnish auxiliary services and labor. But Fernosa has been Japanese for fifty years and Korea for thirty. Undoubtedly both these are subject to conscription for the armed forces.

It is foolish to hope that Japan will be beaten for want of human fodder for the guns.

V

False Interpretations

It is utterly wrong to read into the recall from Washington of Soviet Ambassador to Canada and the withdrawal of Soviet Ambassador to the United States as going badly between Russia and the rest of the Allies. It is an unjustifiable inference and the sort of speculation that does the Allies credit little good.

From what one hears of Premier Stalin, he would not endorse his impatience with the United States. And when he said in the House of Commons that no borrowing from the Bank of Canada would cause ruinous inflation—he uttered a deliberate falsehood.

He uttered a falsehood when he claimed that the recall was due to the chartered banks. This statement is utter nonsense because he has absolute control of every financial institution in Canada and could tomorrow under the War Measures Act take over these institutions completely.

So surely we cannot believe that our great leaders are such amateur bunglers that Premier Stalin would have to sit back and express his displeasure by shouting and bellowing just because they do not know the business.

These false and presumptuous interpretations are dangerous and frequently stupid. This is one of them.

Capture of Sicily in 38 Days Made World History

Splendid Demonstration of Teamwork Between the Allies

By THOMAS DOROTHY THOMPSON

The fall Messing marks the end of the Sicilian campaign, which was the most brilliant and successful of all our wars. And all of us owe a debt of deepest gratitude to the officers and men who planned and executed this first conquest of the enemy's own territory. It was indeed a remarkable achievement of the adventure. General Eisenhower himself, who might have thought he might be sent back with bloody hands. The British Canadian and American boys who fought in Sicily were the best in the world.

Co-Operation in West Held Essential For Prosperity

Alberta, British Columbia Believed Closely Linked In Post-War Development

An organization, not unlike the Pacific Northwest Trade Association, made up of a committee of chambers of commerce members from Edmonton and Calgary, meeting with members of a British Columbia committee, might well be called the 'ABC' of western prosperity. S. S. McKeen, president of the Vancouver board of trade, and president of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association, told a large gathering who attended a chamber of commerce dinner held in the Macdonald hotel Monday night.

Insurance Books Must Be Changed

Selective service officials reported Tuesday that employers in Edmonton are not abiding by the regulations concerning unemployment books which must be turned over to the employer, properly filled in with insurance stamps, immediately upon termination of employment.

It is impossible for the employee to obtain other employment without the insurance book, and the valuable working hours are being lost by employees having to wait two or three days for the return of their books from their previous employers.

In the east several prosecutions have been brought against employers for this violation of the regulations. Edmonton and area say the number of cases of this kind are increasing in the city and they are preparing to take steps to prosecute the employers.

Start to Distribute New Ration Books

Edmonton's 50 ration book distribution centres are handling a steady stream of applicants since they first opened at 8 a.m. Tuesday according to Mrs. Arnold Taylor, head of the Citizens' Victory Bureau, who said the number of applications of this kind are increasing in the city and they are preparing to take steps to prosecute the employers.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Parents' Attitude Queer On Children Marrying

Some Think They Have Nothing to Do Toward Aiding Youths to Happy Wedded Life

There is nothing more curious and inexplicable than the attitude toward marriage which some parents have towards their children's marriages. They know that marriage is the turning point in life, and they know that it is that either makes them, or mars them. They know that the whole happiness of sons and daughters depends upon the kind of wives and husbands they get.

Yet they act as if this momentous thing could never happen to their children and that, if it does, it is a matter of no importance. Parents like being struck by lightning, with which they have nothing to do.

PARENTS SHIRK DUTY

The parents are responsible about it. They wash their hands of the whole matter and seem to consider that the job of helping their children with helping their children to make good marriages, or preventing them from making bad ones, is a most important duty, for parents are used just as much obligation in helping their children as in getting them married, as they are to help them get well settled in business.

Apparently the whole subject of the choice of a mate is a non-issue to fathers and mothers into a panic in which they take leave of their senses and act as if it were unimaginable. They forget, for instance, that preposterously the greatest number of men and women, one girl and boy together constantly it is almost certain that they will fall in love with each other. On the other hand, they will think that they are in love with each other long enough to get married.

Yet ignoring this almost basic matrimonial fact, mothers will insist that their pretty girl relatives or girls of different faiths, or of different religious faiths, pass them long visits, though they would rather their daughter marry a man without finding his rating, or that she will marry a single man without him.

But father doesn't do it. Oh, dear. He did that before the girls fell in love. He would get in his car and tell them just what boys were like, what they did, what they thought, which played the races, and what were whiskey and jazz, and what a miserable match would be presented.

But father doesn't do it. Oh, dear.

Very often he doesn't even take the time to go to the movies to see who is who or what the young man is, or whether there are any mortgages on his house. He has a son, a man, a hundred-dollar bill of credit, and his daughter marry a man without finding a single thing about him.

And when parents try to break up a couple, when John wants to marry Sally, or Mary and Bob appear before him and ask for their blessing,

TRUE SITUATION UNKNOWN

The mother's alibi, when John wants to marry the pretty chambermaid, or Mary comes with a new maid, or Mary comes with a new maid, she says, "I don't know, but believe me we need them."

What To Do

Many girls who have dreamed of wedding bells and white gowns and veils are getting married in street dresses in last minute emergency. They are getting married home on furiously. In these days, women gladly lay aside their dreams, pants and denim to make room for bigger dresses.

A bride can still look glamorous. Good grooming is the key-note. And everyone can be well groomed.

Complete cleanliness is the first step in making a bride. For the day of a simple wedding, the best touch of well care for feet, feet, feet, brides concentrate on cleanliness. A week's care, clean teeth and clean clothes make a radiant beauty of the plainest woman.

Good grooming will keep up morale when the new husband goes to his battle station for away.

Good grooming is the key-note.

R.A.F. Dam Buster Talks to Press, Buys War Savings Stamps, Sees Quebec Sights With Canadian Service Girls

Wing Commander G. P. Gibson, V.C., D.S.O. and bar, D.F.C. and bar, who led the now famous raid on the Mohne and Eder dams in Germany, spent the afternoon of his 25th birthday on Thursday talking to reporters and seeing some of Quebec City's historic sights with Assistant Section Officer Noreen Cambon, Women's Division R.C.A.F., and Lieutenant Carron Murray, Acting Officer Commanding No. 9 Company C.W.A.C., both of Quebec. Wing Commander Gibson came over from England with Prime Minister Churchill's party. Following his press conference

(left) the young flyer stopped long enough in the street to buy war savings stamps (centre) and then, with the two Canadian service girls (right) got into a high, two-wheeled calèche and went for a short ride. Assistant Section Officer Cambon was overseas in Gibson's squadron from January, 1942, to August, 1942, but never until now had the two met. She has a brother, Kenneth, of the Royal Rifles, who is a prisoner in Hong Kong, and a sister, Marjorie, who has been overseas as a nurse for three years.

Premier Ernest Manning States Financial System Blocks Rehabilitation

It is time the Canadian people realized that the majority of the huge scale plans for rehabilitation and reconstruction about which they hear so much can never be carried out under the restrictions of the present financial system. Premier Ernest Manning declared in an address Monday:

"Any attempt to raise the billions of dollars which will be required to finance these plans by means of taxation and borrowing would pile up debt to such an extent and impose such tax burdens on the people that the whole economic structure would collapse, plunging the country into chaos."

"As long as the present financial system is in operation, governments are limited in what they are able to do in the interest of the public welfare—and that in turn is controlled by private financial interests."

Says Manning: "It must be evident that as long as governments are in that subservient position to finance the fighting heroes of Canada in their efforts to save the lives of their families and their all in order to preserve the deplorable condition of our economy, we cannot expect any lasting improvement in our country during these difficult pre-war years. They have taken on the challenge."

"Our Nationalists' faith in themselves and a true democracy, we must be able to give the people of Canada a social order which will give them the promise of victory is taking shape."

THE ISSUE

"We have known for a long time that the issues involved in the war are far more important than the issue of war itself. In the world war, the gospel of state dictatorship—which is all totalitarianism and true democracy, we must be able to give the people of Canada a social order which will give them the promise of victory is taking shape."

ONLY REASON

"The only real reason that the vast resources of the province are not being fully developed and industry is not expanding, is that it could and should—due to the lack of adequate capital. It is simply a matter of money."

"Moreover, so long as the present financial system is in operation, there is no way that the people can be able to buy the amount of money they can tax or borrow, and that in turn is controlled by private financial interests."

"Surely, then, it must be evident that so long as governments are in that subservient position to finance the fighting heroes of Canada in their efforts to save the lives of their families and their all in order to preserve the deplorable condition of our economy, we cannot expect any lasting improvement in our country during these difficult pre-war years. They have taken on the challenge."

"Our Nationalists' faith in themselves and a true democracy, we must be able to give the people of Canada a social order which will give them the promise of victory is taking shape."

BLOCKED BY FINANCE

"I think that it is the people of Canada who have the best chance to make a difference in the financial situation in this country in regard to every aspect of our economy and at the present time the foundation will be firmly laid for the reconstructed democratic war order they have a right to expect."

"That is the challenge which faces us in the home front, and I hope that my colleagues and I will do everything in our power to make sure that we keep faith with those who have given their lives in the battlefields and with our people at home."

"Let us never forget that the essence of democracy is government to give the people the results they want. This means that the people must be held responsible for their responsibility as the highest authority in all spheres of government."

TELL RESULTS WANTED

"In order to carry out the responsibility of a democratic electorate it is essential that you should tell the people exactly what you propose which, collectively, you want."

"Do this wisely and intelligently and you will be up to date and informed about these things regarding which you are called upon to make decision."

"At the same time the people have to contend with two difficulties in this respect."

TOO MANY UNINFORMED

"First, there are too many persons who are not sufficiently informed. People realize the importance of getting all the facts of a case before they form their conclusions."

"Secondly, there are too many persons who are not sufficiently informed or put up with political propaganda based on misleading political propaganda and deliberate misrepresentation of facts. We must use these methods to keep the people divided against themselves, and to divide the people from their government."

NOT BE SIDE-TRACKED

"This is why in every instance we do our best to keep the people from the facts of the case."

"However, let me emphasize ladies and gentlemen, that the focus of our attention must be on the people and not on the existing financial monopoly."

MADE PROGRESS

"For example we have made considerable progress in providing the people the results they want from the management of their affairs."

"But unless the basis of that new democratic order is firmly established before the problems of peace are upon us, we can not expect to have the kind of health care that we have in the United States. Let me remind you, ladies and gentlemen, that strife, confusion and uncertainty are the enemies of a revolution. Any person who does not realize the gravity of the situation which is developing must be considered to be a traitor to his country."

"Similarly, in education we have seen the introduction of a new system which is stagnating on the North American continent. But how much more we could have done were it not for the fact that we are in a war."

THEN AGAIN

"Then again take the disastrous problem of farm debts. It is an enormous system which, on the one hand forces the farmer to borrow, and, on the other, makes it impossible for him to repay his debts by darning him a fair price for his produce."

ONLY REASON

"The only real reason that the vast resources of the province are not being fully developed and industry is not expanding, is that it could and should—due to the lack of adequate capital. It is simply a matter of money."

"Moreover, so long as the present financial system is in operation, there is no way that the people can be able to buy the amount of money they can tax or borrow, and that in turn is controlled by private financial interests."

SURELY, THEN, IT MUST BE EVIDENT

"That so long as governments are in that subservient position to finance the fighting heroes of Canada in their efforts to save the lives of their families and their all in order to preserve the deplorable condition of our economy, we cannot expect any lasting improvement in our country during these difficult pre-war years. They have taken on the challenge."

Large Increase In Filings of Income Returns

The minister of national revenue has informed the Treasury that he has extended the time for filing of individual income tax returns to that penalties for late filing will not apply to those who file in respect of those who fail to file on or before August 31.

This is the first time the ministry of national revenue in Canada that the time for filing of returns has been extended after the date on which they were required to pass.

The actual number of taxpayers who filed their returns for the first time is 50 per cent greater than last year.

Last year 1,523,000 individuals filed their return for the first time this year there show 2,000,771.

Having regard to the deductions at the source that have been made it is felt that there should be a number of returns yet to be received.

Departmental officials estimate that there are a number of persons liable to tax who may be under the belief that having paid their tax by depositing it with their employer required to file an Income Tax Return.

There is no exemption for all taxable persons required by law to file a return whether the full tax has been deducted or not, or if not, on or before June 30, which date has now been extended to August 31.

TWO REASONS

There are two reasons for making this extension, according to information released Tuesday.

First, the number of persons who were late in filing their returns and lodged them on the first, second or third of July, has been very substantially greater this year than ever before. The number of persons who filed their returns on or before the day late has been surprisingly large. It is felt that this may have been caused due to the alteration in the date for filing of returns, namely, prior to last year individuals were required to file their returns on or before June 30. In 1942 the 1941 returns were required to be filed on or before March 31, 1942, and it was felt that since this year the law provided that the 1942 returns were required to be filed on or before Sept. 30, 1942.

The second reason is that advanced this date to June 30, 1943, this advance being occasioned primarily by the introduction of the Pay-as-you-Plan and the forgiving of one-half of the 1942 tax liability.

SOME CONFUSION

However, these factors have apparently caused some confusion and it is felt that the door should be opened for all those who are yet to file their returns. And, finally, that those who have incurred penalties by the late filing in the first place should not be relieved of the penalty, so that all who file their individual income tax returns on or before Aug. 31 this year will not be subject to the penalty of 5 per cent of the tax payable, provided the penalty shall not exceed $50. This is the maximum for the late filing of individual returns.

The second reason for the extension from June 30 to Aug. 31 is that many persons believed that their fall tax had been paid by deduction and that they were required to file an income tax return, erroneously feeling that in substance, that this is in payment of the tax. However, the basic statutory tax requirements and that they were not withholding from the employer, did not apply in respect to it. They failed to realize that in the payment of taxes there is a refundable portion, resulting in the taxpayer remitting two years after the close of the war and this refundable portion is wholly contained in its repayment upon the filing of a proper income tax return.

THE APPROPRIATE TIME

The appropriate time for filing an income tax return is now.

First, because it can be filed without penalty and, second, secondly, because the information to be furnished in the return is now available and known where two years after the war some taxpayers have failed to file their returns at the regular time getting their refunds.

A Canadian Pacific Railway employee stated that she had met the Dominion Bank manager and another name, opened an account with the Dominion Bank and he had given her a draft on the Canadian Bank of Commerce, South Side branch, signed with the name of the manager.

The accused was told that his bank had opened an account on Monday on a charge of operating an auto without the owner's consent, but something more was learned about the man's conduct that he had obtained that information from the army authorities.

"Your conduct in the army was not good," said Mr. Miller. "Your record was not good." He was asked if he had admitted that he was fined $25 and costs or six weeks' imprisonment.

Edward Hogan pleaded guilty to charge of intoxication, acknowledging he had been drunk and was fined $25 and costs or 35 days, and was still mulling it over in the dock after he had been dismissed.

Four of the witnesses stated they had identified the accused who had been serving as a driver for a truck company.

For the past two years he had been driving a truck for a company that stated she had picked him up.

The story was never published in British Columbia but here yesterday an official claims connected with the incident.

One evening in November, 1940, Edward Hogan, 20, of Victoria, Mr. Churchill, British Columbia, had said he was in the dining room at 10 Downing Street, killing 12 people, and had been shot in the head.

It was a bright day in the Winnipeg shop of Trans-Canada Aircraft, who thought of beating the tire shortage by using wooden wheels on cargo trucks. The carpenter shop went into production.

Man With Several Aliases Remanded to Stand Trial

William J. H. Marchand, alias Blaine, alias Harrison, alias Alton, alias Honeycutt, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was remanded to stand trial on a new supreme court charge, which he had been granted.

The trial, however, was adjourned to Sept. 10, when the court will hear the defense's application for a change of venue.

Mr. Marchand, alias Blaine, was charged with receiving $500 in cash from a Mrs. E. L. Bowes, alias Mrs. C. A. Bowes, of the Royal Bank of Canada, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Dominion Bank and the Canadian Pacific Railway, who gave evidence in the case, which occupied almost two hours.

The accused was told that he had opened an account with the Royal Bank of Canada, and he had deposited $200 and costs on 20 days. The amount came involved in a collision with another vehicle on 10 Avenue and 10 Street, on May 10. The latter vehicle had stalled for a sign, behind two other cars. Front of the auto was damaged.

He was fined $25 and costs or six weeks' imprisonment.

Officer Gives Clarification On U.S. Taxes

Discounting the rumor that American income tax is not payable in Canada, while it must be paid in the United States, Brig.-Gen. L. D. Worsham, officer commanding the Northwest Division of the U.S. Air Corps, said Tuesday that U.S. personnel working in Canada or on war projects must pay all income tax to the American government.

He said that a corresponding tax is placed against the paying of wages in Canada, but that there is a difference in the methods of collection. "Pay-as-you-go" plan is used by Alaskans while in Canada there is a tax on tax statements and payments. In the long run, however, U.S. government will collect the same share from both places.

American workers in Canada will have to go through long tedious forms and procedures paying on Sept. 15 and Dec. 15, when income tax is to their home country.

He also contradicted the theory that Americans who have lived in Canada since January, 1943, will be exempt from U.S. tax and will have to pay to Canada instead. He said that this involves naturalization, which is not likely among most workers.

He concluded his remarks by saying that he had been here Tuesday for a short visit.

Tuesday, Mr. Flintoff called on His Hon. Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, at his residence, and the two men conferred with railway officials. He had completed a trip through the provinces, the part of Alberta and British Columbia.

"The west looks well, although I cannot speak as expert on crop conditions," Mr. Flintoff remarked.

Impressions gained on the trip north from Lehighard indicate a northward movement of the weather, further east, the railway officials stated. Even areas which had experienced snowfall in winter had a prosperous appearance.

Mr. Flintoff is meeting and conferring with C.P.R. solicitors in the west, and will be in the west again on his return to Montreal Aug. 1 and 2.

Mr. Flintoff accompanied the eastern official on his city visits.
